ABOUT GRAHAM

Graham Webb joined Hall Chadwick in May 2001 as a Manager in the audit group, having worked in 2nd-tier firms throughout his career in both the UK and Australia. In his time at Hall Chadwick, Graham has developed considerable expertise and experience in audit services and was promoted from Audit Manager to Senior Audit Manager in 2004, then to Associate in 2006 and finally to Partner on 1 January 2009.

Graham offers a wealth of knowledge and proficiency in Audit services. In his role as a partner, Graham is responsible for a variety of clients from listed public companies to small not-for-profit entities and across a broad range of industries including manufacturing, retail, debt collection, not-for-profit organisations, financial services and mining. Graham offers a depth of experience, personal capacity and seniority within Hall Chadwick to ensure that his client's needs are met in a focused, timely, comprehensive and appropriate manner. Graham is also responsible for supervising, training and mentoring Hall Chadwick's expanding audit team.

Since joining Hall Chadwick in 2001, Graham has developed the Hall Chadwick audit team from just 3 staff members with only 2 listed audit clients to a team of over 25 highly ambitious audit professionals servicing 30 listed public companies as well as a diversified range of other clients across a mix of industry sectors. Graham sees the Audit division as an integral part of the future of Hall Chadwick and has overseen the aggressive expansion of the Audit division during his time at Hall Chadwick. His agreeable personality, proactive nature and patience have made him a strong leader within the audit team and an asset to Hall Chadwick.

"Developing the audit team has been extremely rewarding. It gives me immense pleasure to watch a fresh junior employee develop professionally and evolve through the ranks within Hall Chadwick. Having seen so many employees realise their full potential, we now take on 2 cadets annually to expand upon our thriving and successful audit team."

Graham is Chairman of the Hall Chadwick National Corporate Services Committee Sydney's representative on the Gold Coast and in the Executive Committee. Graham's client-focused and hand-on approach means he works closely with his clients as a trusted advisor while maintaining the independence and integrity required from an external professional.

"Every client is different and they each present their own challenges. To be successful you need to be flexible to deal with the different situations that arise."
